Programme outline

The LLM in Intellectual Property Law is a unique programme, that offers students the chance to specialise in IP law from a national, regional and international perspective, both at theoretical and practical levels. Students are free to choose their options from 25 IP-specialist modules. The modules are taught by both research academics and practitioners from legal and business spheres. Some of the modules are devoted to the core Intellectual Property elements (ie copyright, patents and trade marks), whereas the other modules offer students perspectives on specialist industry and theoretical areas (including Digital Intellectual Property Law, IP in China, or Interactive Entertainment Law).

Aims of the programme

The LLM in Intellectual Property Law programme is designed for students who wish to take full advantage of the diverse research interests and industry know-how of our IP faculty (with six full time IP faculty members and ten visiting professors). Students have the opportunity to pick the modules which inform them on intellectual property law and policy as well as the necessary tools to develop their skills and expertise ex-post the LLM degree (whether as practitioners in law firms; in-house counselors; academic researchers, Government or policy advisors, trade organisations, the judiciary, and UN-based international organisations). The programme's wide module platter (which includes the interaction of IP law with economics, socio-legal and comparative perspectives) attracts a wide range of students from different backgrounds and jurisdictions including China, Japan, India, Singapore, Australia, Canada, Brazil, Kenya, Jamaica, Russia, Ukraine, USA and the EU Member States. The ultimate aim is to produce the best postgraduate students in the field of IP law and policy who will make an international impact on the theoretical and practical formulation, research and enforcement of IP law.

What will you be expected to achieve?

Students who successfully complete the programme will be able to:

- * Demonstrate a solid understanding of IP law and policy
- * Analyse complex situations from factual and legal perspectives
- * Be capable of researching and analysing IP issues across different areas of law
- * Understand how IP law is enforced in key jurisdictions
- * Demonstrate an understanding of the role IP law and policy within national, regional and international contexts
- * Appreciate the importance of economic analysis when applying IP law
- * Debate the relationship between IP law and other fields, notably human rights law, art law, media law and competition law from both theoretical and practical perspectives

Academic Content:

A 1	Students will acquire a thorough understanding of legal principles as applied within IP law, and how it interacts with other areas of law.
A 2	Students will understand the key aspects of IP law across major jurisdictions and of international IP law as applicable to their chosen modules.

Disciplinary Skills - able to:

B 1	Students will develop the ability to assimilate and evaluate a range of primary and secondary legal materials within IP law.
B 2	Students will develop their ability to state and argue a position orally and in writing.

Attributes:

C 1	Students will understand how their chosen IP module interacts within their own national legal frameworks, and how it interacts with other areas of law.

How will you learn?

Students will learn through direct interaction with lecturers using a variety of teaching, learning and assessment strategies, including traditional and interactive lectures, seminar sessions, tutorials and e-learning. Students will also be expected to invest a significant amount of time in independent learning, including reading materials in advance of lectures/seminars, preparing class presentations, completing assignments and preparing for examinations.

In addition, students will need to carry out extensive research to complete the dissertation. Students will be provided with a variety of legal resources and receive training on how to use them.

How will you be assessed?

Assessment is by examination, oral presentation, essays and/or coursework for taught modules and by dissertation.

How is the programme structured?

Please specify the structure of the programme diets for all variants of the programme (e.g. full-time, part-time - if applicable). The description should be sufficiently detailed to fully define the structure of the diet.

Master of Laws (LLM)

- Students on the LLM have to complete 180 credits including the compulsory Dissertation in Intellectual Property Law SOLM910.
- Full-time students have to take between 60 and 90 credits of taught modules in each semester.
- Part-time students are normally expected to take 90 credits each year of their programme but this may be varied by special permission.
- Part-time students are normally expected to take 45 credits in each semester of their programme but this may be varied by special permission.

An additional dissertation (SOLM901) can be taken instead of taught modules by LLM students only with special permission from the LLM Programme Coordinator.

What are the entry requirements?

The usual qualification for entry to the LLM programme is a degree in law, or a degree with a substantial law content, of at least 2.1 honours (or equivalent). Law graduates with 2.2 honours who also have other legal qualifications and/or substantial professional legal experience may also qualify.

Non-law graduates with a minimum second class honours degree, that have also obtained a Merit (or 60 per cent) in the Common Professional Examination (CPE) or Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL) recognised by the UK professional bodies, may also qualify. Non-law graduates may also be considered on the basis of exceptional professional experience (of at least five years) in a legal area or an area directly related to their programme of study.

Applicants whose first language is not English must provide evidence of your English language proficiency. The usual English Language Requirements for Postgraduate Law Taught Programmes will apply. These may be accessed at <http://www.law.qmul.ac.uk/postgraduate/courses/english-language-requirements/index.html#Postgraduatelawtaughtprogrammes>

How will the quality of the programme be managed and enhanced? How do we listen to and act on your feedback?

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year.

Each school/institute operates a Learning and Teaching Committee, or equivalent, which advises the School/Institute Director of Taught Programmes on all matters relating to the delivery of taught programmes at school level including monitoring the application of relevant QM policies and reviewing all proposals for module and programme approval and amendment before submission to Taught Programmes Board. Student views are incorporated in the committee's work in a number of ways, such as through student membership, or consideration of student surveys.

All schools/institutes operate an Annual Programme Review of their taught undergraduate and postgraduate provision. APR is a continuous process of reflection and action planning which is owned by those responsible for programme delivery; the main document of reference for this process is the Taught Programmes Action Plan (TPAP) which is the summary of the school/institute's work throughout the year to monitor academic standards and to improve the student experience. Students' views are considered in this process through analysis of the PTES and module evaluations.

What academic support is available?

Students will receive a comprehensive induction. Students will be assisted with the preliminary stages of selecting a research topic, drafting a research proposal, considering their methodology and developing the skills needed to identify and use relevant materials. Lecturers on taught modules shall be available to discuss any concerns students might have with regard to the particular module or its content.

Programme-specific rules and facts

Students can take up to 45 credits outside of their programme within the postgraduate programmes offered by the School of Law.

In order to specialise in Intellectual Property Law, LLM students must take at least 135 credits, including their dissertation, in modules on the Intellectual Property Law programme.

Specific support for disabled students

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:

- Finding out if you have a specific learning difficulty like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Special arrangements in examinations
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)
- Specialist one-to-one "study skills" tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)

Links with employers, placement opportunities and transferable skills

There is a mentoring programme that matches students with available mentors from the profession. An embedded Careers and professional development team provide guidance in identifying and obtaining relevant internships, valuable employment-related skills and other work-related opportunities. There is a programme of co-curricular activities designed to foster professional development and related skills.
