What are the entry requirements?

Law graduates

The usual qualification for entry to the LLM programme is a degree in law, or a degree with a substantial law content, of at least 2.1 honours (or equivalent). Law graduates with 2.2 honours who also have other legal qualifications and/or substantial professional legal experience may also qualify.

Non-law graduates

Non-law graduates with a minimum second class honours degree, that have also obtained a Merit (or 60 per cent) in the Common Professional Examination (CPE) or Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL) recognised by the UK professional bodies, may also qualify. Non-law graduates may also be considered on the basis of exceptional professional experience (of at least five years) in a legal area or an area directly related to their programme of study.

How do we listen to and act on your feedback?

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year.

Each school/institute operates a Learning and Teaching Committee, or equivalent, which advises the School/Institute Director of Taught Programmes on all matters relating to the delivery of taught programmes at school level including monitoring the application of relevant QM policies and reviewing all proposals for module and programme approval and amendment before submission to Taught Programmes Board. Student views are incorporated in the committee's work in a number of ways, such as through student membership, or consideration of student surveys.

All schools/institutes operate an Annual Programme Review of their taught undergraduate and postgraduate provision. APR is a continuous process of reflection and action planning which is owned by those responsible for programme delivery; the main document of reference for this process is the Taught Programmes Action Plan (TPAP) which is the summary of the school/institute's work throughout the year to monitor academic standards and to improve the student experience. Students' views are considered in this process through analysis of the NSS and module evaluations.

What academic support is available?

Initial assessment of education and training needs for taught postgraduate students is carried out by the Programme Director and the relevant administrative staff in charge of processing applications for the programme. Induction of new students is coordinated by the relevant Programme Administrator, in the CCLS in coordination with individual Programme Directors. An additional in-session introductory law course (non-credit bearing) session will be held for taught postgraduate students in the first two weeks of the academic session.

All taught postgraduate students in the programme are assigned a personal advisor, who is the student's primary point of contact for both academic and welfare issues relating to the programme as a whole and the student's experience at Queen Mary. Advisors oversee the regular progress of advisees through the programme, and help coordinate any intervention that may be necessary between the advisee and other members of the School/College staff (including the School Chair of Examiners). In addition to personal advisors, taught postgraduate students will be assigned supervisors for their dissertations during the second semester of the degree. Supervisors and supervisees will meet, either physically or virtually, at least 3 times (the specifics of which are to be determined by the supervisor and the supervisee) to ensure sufficient progress is being made on the dissertation and that the submitted dissertation will be of a standard required for work at the Masters level.

In addition to pastoral and welfare services offered by the College, CCLS maintain an extensive support network for all students in taught programmes and students on the new programme will have full access to these. Details of the School's provision in this area can be found in the Handbooks for masters Students produced by CCLS.

Programme-specific rules and facts

Programme will follow the MA Regulations.

Specific support for disabled students

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Programme Title: LLM Regulation and Compliance

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:

- Finding out if you have a specific learning difficulty like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Special arrangements in examinations
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)
- Specialist one-to-one study skills tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)
- Access to specialist mentoring support for students with mental health issues and Autistic Spectrum Disorders.

Links with employers, placement opportunities and transferable skills

The course is intended to give postgraduate training to students wishing to pursue careers in the Regulation Advisory Sector, Corporate Finance, Government, Law firms, International Financial Institutions, the banking and finance industry. Demand for such professionals is high both in the UK, and in fast developing transitional economies such as China, India and others. This Programme aims at Integrating Careers programme offered by the Careers service with academic study.
