Programme Outline

The Pre-Masters Graduate Diploma in Humanities and Social Sciences offers a route into postgraduate degrees in social sciences and humanities for EU and international students whose academic or linguistic backgrounds do not qualify them for direct entry.

The subject content and teaching methodology is aimed to prepare students for Masters level study. The programme consists of both academic and English language & study skills modules which are fully assessed and contribute to the final award. The academic modules are delivered by the following schools: Business and Management, Languages, Linguistics and Film, and Politics and International Relations. Queen Mary offers guaranteed entry to linked degree courses to students who achieve appropriate grades.

The Pre-Masters Graduate Diploma in Humanities and Social Sciences attracts students from all over the world, and has had increasing numbers since its inception. For example, enrolments have increased from 36 in 2008-09, to 67 in 2012-13. Each year approximately 60% of the students attain the grades they need to progress to QM. Most of the other students find places in other UKHEIs.

Aims of the Programme

The programme aims to offer a route to British HE for EU and international students who do not/may not meet the general minimum entrance requirements for taught masters degree programmes.

It also aims to enhance EU and International students' potential for success at taught masters level by increasing their subject knowledge of specific academic disciplines, by improving their overall ability in English and by developing their study skills and to assist them in adjusting to the expectations of a UK HE institution.

What Will You Be Expected to Achieve?

Academic Content:

A1	To enable students to develop and demonstrate the academic English language and study skills required for entry to and potential success in a masters degree programme in Business & Management, Politics & International Relations, Comparative Literature, Film Studies or related subjects.
A2	To enable students to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the discipline-specific topics to progress to a taught Masters degree in the chosen area.

Disciplinary Skills - able to:

B1	show the ability to analyse and comment on discipline-specific areas in an informed and coherent manner in both written work and seminar discussions to the level that will lead to potential success on a taught Masters degree in the chosen area.
B2	read and think critically in order to question, to examine arguments/ideas, and to evaluate evidence and conclusions for their reliability and validity.
B3	synthesize ideas and evidence, applying appropriate knowledge and skills flexibly, in order to produce innovative solutions in research with minimal guidance.
B4	reflect on and evaluate their thinking and reading skills, using both feedback and self-assessment to raise their awareness of the learning process itself and the skills necessary for success in an academic environment.

Attributes:

C1	To write coherently in a variety of academic styles (eg argumentative, discursive, critical, persuasive) to the standards of Masters level writing.
C2	To actively engage with academic reading texts through discussion/debate with peers and teachers.
C3	To study autonomously, using the full range of appropriate resources for their discipline available in the College and in the wider academic community.

C4	To lead and be proactive in discussions, and work effectively in groups.
C5	To grasp the principles and practices of the field of study.
C6	To produce analyses which are grounded in evidence.
C7	To use effective spoken and written English with confidence.

How Will You Learn?

The principal strategy for learning is to offer a carefully staged and appropriately supported introduction to the modes of course delivery and types of assessment currently in use in UK higher education, and to ensure that on completion of the course students possess the academic knowledge, language and study skills to make a successful transition to university study. Attendance is compulsory and sustained absences from class will be dealt with according to the policy of the Graduate Diploma (students receive two written warnings – after 20 and 40 absences – followed by deregistration if attendance does not improve). Students who are more than fifteen minutes late for class will be classified as absent.

The module will be taught using the following methods:

- Lectures
- Seminars
- Readings
- Viewings
- Listening exercises
- Written exercises
- Student presentations
- Student written assignments.

How Will You Be Assessed?

The programme uses Continual Assessment (eg. coursework, assessed seminars and presentations, in-class tests, and extended writing on research conducted by the student) and Written Examination Papers.

How is the Programme Structured?

The Graduate Diploma in Humanities and Social Sciences is a fully credit-bearing programme at Level 6. To successfully complete the programme, students must complete 120 credits, at least 90 of which must be at Level 6, and up to 30 of which can be Level 4 or 5.

There are separate intakes in September and January. Both intakes complete the full programme.

All students take English Language and Study Skills as well as two optional modules, and are counselled while choosing their options during the Induction programme (Week 0 of Semester A). Their choices depend on what subject they want to study at degree level, and there are compulsory elements depending on the subject: eg, students who wish to study for a masters degree in the School of Business and Management must take Business Studies, while those wanting to study International Relations or Global and Comparative Politics must choose Global Politics.

The award regulations for the Graduate Diploma programmes appear in the Academic Regulations 2016-2017, as follows:

Programme Title: Graduate Diploma in Humanities and Social Sciences (September Start)

Progression and award regulations: GradCert and GradDip

Eligibility for award

To be eligible for the award of Graduate Diploma or Graduate Certificate, a student must:

- i. meet the requirements for the approved programme for which they are registered;
- ii. meet the requirements for the duration of registration;
- iii. take the required total credit value for the award (see below);
- iv. meet the minimum credit value at the level of the award (see below);
- v. not exceed the maximum credit value at the lowest level of the award (see below);
- vi. achieve a minimum College Mark of 40.0.

Academic credit requirements for award: Graduate Diploma

To be eligible for the award of Graduate Diploma, a student must:

- i. take modules to a total value of 120 credits during one developmental year;
- ii. take modules to a minimum value of 90 credits at Level 6;
- iii. take modules to a maximum value of 30 credits at Level 4;
- iv. pass modules to the value of 105 credits.

Classification of award

A student shall be classified when the award requirements are met. The classification of award shall be based upon the College Mark.

The College Mark provides a weighted average of all modules taken by a student. The College Mark shall always be calculated as though the required value of academic credit was taken.

The College Mark shall be calculated to one decimal place, and presented to the SEB and DEB in that form.

The classification of the Graduate Certificate and Graduate Diploma shall be made according to the following scale:

College Mark Classification

70.0 – 100.0 Distinction

60.0 – 69.9 Merit

40.0 – 59.9 Pass

How Do We Listen and Act on Your Feedback?

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year.

Each school/institute operates a Learning and Teaching Committee, or equivalent, which advises the School/Institute Director of Taught Programmes on all matters relating to the delivery of taught programmes at school level including monitoring the application of relevant QM policies and reviewing all proposals for module and programme approval and amendment before submission to Taught Programmes Board. Student views are incorporated in the committee's work in a number of ways, such as through student membership, or consideration of student surveys.

All schools/institutes operate an Annual Programme Review of their taught undergraduate and postgraduate provision. APR is a continuous process of reflection and action planning which is owned by those responsible for programme delivery; the main document of reference for this process is the Taught Programmes Action Plan (TPAP) which is the summary of the school/institute's work throughout the year to monitor academic standards and to improve the student experience. Students' views are considered in this process through analysis of the NSS and module evaluations.

Academic Support

Each student has a personal tutor, who is their main English language and study skills teacher. Individual tutorials are scheduled for 30 minutes fortnightly, but students can request to see their tutor additionally outside this schedule if required.

Students attend a compulsory one-week induction in Week 0 of Semester 1. During this, students are given help in enrolling and paying fees as well as attending sessions on programme details, academic options, health and safety and additional sessions offered by the Advice and Counselling Service.

Specific Support for Disabled Students

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:

- Finding out if you have a specific learning difficulty like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Special arrangements in examinations
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)
- Specialist one-to-one "study skills" tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)
- Mentoring support for students with mental health issues and conditions on the autistic spectrum.
