Programme outline

The programme is designed to provide students with a strong grounding in International Relations, including international political theory, comparative politics and regional studies, international security, international development and debates around globalisation, while also providing students with a grounding in Business Management, including management, marketing and strategy. The programme is designed to provide students with a grounding in all of these central issues (especially at levels 4 and 5), but at the same time provide sufficient flexibility to specialise in particular themes, topics and areas if they so wish (especially at level 6, but also to some degree at level 5).

The programme is designed to help students develop a strong sense of intellectual integrity, acquire substantial knowledge in the broad fields of International Relations and Business Management and apply these skills to wider situations.

Aims of the programme

To:
- Provide students with a coherent, wide-ranging and intellectually stimulating programme including themes and issues in international relations theory, comparative politics and regional studies, security, development, globalisation, management, marketing and strategy.
Programme Title: BA International Relations with Business Management

- Introduce students to, and encourage them to employ, a range of methodological approaches.
- Enable students to develop independent critical thinking and judgment and to undertake independent research tasks.
- Develop a range of skills necessary to the effective communication of ideas and arguments.
- Provide a basis for further study in International Relations, Business Management or related disciplines.

What will you be expected to achieve?

Students will have the opportunity to develop:
- Detailed understanding of key principles, concepts, theories and research methods in International Relations and Business Management; and
- The ability to apply these frameworks to understand contemporary political phenomena; and
- The ability to think critically and independently, to reason, to evaluate and deploy evidence, to draw appropriate conclusions, and to make persuasive arguments, in writing and orally.

Please note that the following information is only applicable to students who commenced their Level 4 studies in 2017/18, or 2018/19

In each year of undergraduate study, students are required to study modules to the value of at least 10 credits, which align to one or more of the following themes:

- networking
- multi- and inter-disciplinarity
- international perspectives
- enterprising perspectives.

These modules will be identified through the Module Directory, and / or by your School or Institute as your studies progress.

Academic Content:

| A1 | The nature of politics and business management including a range of principles, concepts and terminologies associated with the study of both disciplines |
| A2 | Understanding of historical and contemporary links between business activities and international relations and structures |
| A3 | Knowledge and application of appropriate theoretical and/or methodological approaches in the field of international relations and business management |

Disciplinary Skills - able to:

| B1 | Demonstrate systematic and critical knowledge and understanding of a range of principles, concepts and terminologies associated with the study of international relations and business management |
Programme Title: BA International Relations with Business Management

| B2 | Apply knowledge and understanding, selecting and using established techniques and a range of sources to evaluate links between international relations and business management |
| B3 | Select appropriate theoretical and/or methodological approaches to a range of issues within the study of international relations and business management |

Attributes:

| C1 | Identify and critically evaluate appropriate information in specific contexts in a self-directed way, and reflect on how this might be used and adapted to different contexts |
| C2 | Work independently, demonstrating clarity, initiative, self organisation and time management |
| C3 | Establish a skills and learning agenda through negotiation, participation and communication in group discussions |
| C4 | Develop a reasoned argument and synthesise information, and communicate this clearly and effectively |
| C5 | Select and use information, including from IT sources |
| C6 | Exercise critical judgement and self-reflection on their own learning, and to use this to adapt to new situations in professional settings |

How will you learn?

The programme is taught in accordance with SPIR’s Education Strategy and statement of educational principles, which support excellent, inclusive and innovative teaching practice aimed at fostering independent learning and critical thinking in our students. Our strategy is informed by QMUL’s 2030 strategy.

Teaching takes a number of forms:
- lectures
- seminars
- workshops
- individual supervision of projects and dissertations
- individual feedback on written work.

Learning is supported by:
- Coherently designed and effectively delivered modules
- Detailed module handbooks, providing learning outcomes and guided reading for each module
- The provision of key materials in libraries or through electronic resources
- Appropriate assessment exercises within each module
- Use of electronic teaching materials including Powerpoint, QMPlus and online reading lists
- Encouraging active participation by students in seminar discussions
- Research methods training

How will you be assessed?

Assessment is varied and takes a number of forms within the programme. The nature of the assessment is closely connected to the desired learning outcomes and the mode of teaching within each module. Forms of assessment include: written coursework; examinations; presentations; and the final-year dissertation.
Programme Title: BA International Relations with Business Management

What are the entry requirements?

Programme Title: BA International Relations with Business Management

International Baccalaureate: Subjects and grades: 32 points overall, with 6,5,5 in Higher Level subjects.
Vocational and other qualifications: The College accepts a wide range of qualifications such as Access and Foundation programmes, vocational awards, Irish Leaving Certificate, Scottish Higher and other Baccalaureates. Further information on our entry requirements.

Admission is based on academic merit and on the proven ability of the applicant to achieve success on their chosen programme of study. Every application to Queen Mary is considered on its individual merits with personal statement and reference taken into consideration.

How will the quality of the programme be managed and enhanced? How do we listen to and act on your feedback?

The programme is monitored through the Student-Staff Liaison Committee (SSLC), with student representatives, chaired by the Senior Tutor and the Teaching and Learning Committee (TLC) chaired by the Directors of Education (DE). Issues arising from student evaluations (both mid-year and end of module) are fed into the TLC through the DE. External examiners oversee assessment and marking procedures; this is handled by the Chair of Exams. The programme is evaluated in the Annual Programme Review.

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year. Each school/institute operates a Teaching and Learning Committee, or equivalent, which advises the School/Institute Director of Taught Programmes on all matters relating to the delivery of taught programmes at school level including monitoring the application of relevant QM policies and reviewing all proposals for module and programme approval and amendment before submission to Taught Programmes Board. Student views are incorporated in the committee’s work in a number of ways, such as through student membership, or consideration of student surveys.

What academic support is available?

The School runs induction and welcome back meetings at the start of each semester, to update students on School/QM policies and advise them on their studies.

Each student is assigned a dedicated Advisor throughout their years of study to assist them in choosing their modules and advising them on their studies. The School has a dedicated Senior Tutor to deal with Extenuating Circumstances, the Senior Tutor is assisted by the Student Support Manager and Student Support Officer.

To assist with their final year project students are assigned a supervisor whose research matches the topic/subject they wish to focus on.

How inclusive is the programme for all students, including those with disabilities?

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:
- Finding out if you have a specific learning difference like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Examination access arrangements
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)
- Specialist one-to-one study skills tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)
- Mentoring support for students with mental health issues and conditions on the autistic spectrum.

Links with employers, placement opportunities and transferable skills

The subject specific skills developed by this programme prepare students for a wide range of employment opportunities, including careers in the civil service, journalism, political research, social work, local and national government and third-sector organisations. The transferable skills developed by this programme also help to prepare students for work in diverse other sectors, including finance and banking, management training, PR and advertising. The programme also builds academic skills essential for further study, including MSc and research degrees, and professional qualifications in law and teaching. Additionally in year 3 students have access to internship modules (in the Parliament and/or civil society organisations) offered alongside preparatory coursework that can help establish career pathways while still in the final year of their degree.
