Ordinance C5: The Council and the Students’ Union

1. The Council affirms its commitment to the self-government and autonomy of the Students’ Union under its own constitution and the stewardship of the Board of Trustees following its establishment as a charitable entity.

2. The Education Act [1994, s.22 (2) (b)] requires that the Union's constitution is subject to approval by the Council. The constitution of the Students' Union is the Memorandum and Articles of Association of Queen Mary Students’ Union.

3. The self-government and autonomy referred to in the preceding paragraph must be consistent with the law and with the Council's obligations, in particular the Code of Practice specifying compliance with the relevant provisions of the Education Act 1994.
4. The Council affirms that it will normally expect to approve a constitution, or amendments to the constitution, which have been properly considered and endorsed through the Union’s own decision-making structure, including its Board of Trustees and would refuse to do so only in exceptional circumstances.

5. The exceptional circumstances referred to in the preceding paragraph cannot be defined comprehensively, but could include the following: non-compliance with the requirements of Part II of the Education Act 1994; non-compliance with the law on charities; non-compliance with the College's obligations under the Financial Memorandum with the Higher Education Funding Council for England or other requirements relating to finances and resources; provisions curtailing the normal democratic procedures within the Union or the rights of individual members; provisions incompatible with the Charter or with any Ordinances or any Codes, Rules or Regulations approved by the Council already in existence.

6. Officers of the Union are asked to give as much notice as possible to officers of the College before constitutional amendments are brought before the Council so that any possible problems can be identified and discussions can take place.

7. Where a problem as mentioned in the preceding paragraph has arisen and discussions between the College and the Union have not resolved the differences, the proposed change should be brought to the Council together with explanatory statements from the President and the Principal.

8. If the Council is of the view that further discussions should take place or some changes should be made to the proposals before approving them, it will normally defer the matter to its next meeting rather than formally disapproving them.

9. If agreement cannot be reached in this way or the Council does refuse to approve the proposals, it will normally be the case that the status quo will continue and the existing constitution or parts of the constitution will continue in force. Only in exceptional cases, such as where there are no such current provisions or change is required by law, will the Council consider introducing changes itself.

10. If the Council, in accordance with the preceding paragraph, is of the view that changes are required following its refusal to approve the proposal, it will ask the Principal to arrange for discussions to take place with Union officers and/or members of the Board of Trustees as relevant with a view to reaching agreement so as to avoid a situation where the Council must itself introduce provisions into the Union's constitution which have not first been approved by the Union through its own decision-making structures.

11. The Council hopes that this Ordinance, while recognising the Council's obligations under the law, will contribute to maintaining the excellent relationship between the Council and the Union and between College officers and Union officers and its Board of Trustees which is in the interests of the College and of its students.
